PART III: Aravosis interviews Joseph Stiglitz about US domestic product and oil prices, and the mortgage crisis

AMERICAblog's John Aravosis interviews Nobel-prize-winning economist Joseph Stiglitz during their attendance at the Sympo Symposium in Chalkidiki, Greece in July, 2008. In the third of three parts, Aravosis asks Stiglitz about whether increased US domestic production of oil would help lower oil prices, and the mismanagement of the US mortgage crisis by the Bush administration.
